

The Welsh Ornithological Society's Young Conservationist Bursary - Conference

Application Form

The Welsh Ornithological Society's (WOS) Young Conservationists' Bursary was established to commemorate the Society's former chairman Derek Moore, who was a champion of encouraging the next generation of conservationists. The aim of the Young Conservationist's Bursary is to provide a financial contribution towards the costs incurred while volunteering, or gaining experience, of studying or conserving birds in Wales.

There is a special category of bursaries to support WOS Young Birders who want to attend the WOS Annual Conference. Please read the notes below and apply using the form on page 2.

Notes to applicants

- Applicants must be 14 or over, and under 26 years of age. If the applicant is aged between 14 and 16 she/he must be accompanied to the Conference by a fee-paying responsible adult.
- Applications for consideration by the Grants Panel must be made using the form below, which should be sent to mike.shewring@gmail.com with "Young Conservationist Bursary - Conference" in subject line.
- Please ensure you provide an email address that we can contact you on.
- The Grants Panel will consider applications to cover conference fee, travel and subsistence.
